

story board

This graph explains me about the total assets of the banks based on total assets of the banks around the world the graph explains about which country has the maximum bank this is a donut graph which is about total number of banks this is about total assets in each country this graph is a balance sheet

